Allaboutdatingsites announces the debut of its new website <http://www.allboutdating.com> -- the best independent technical support collaborative for dating software on the web.

AllAboutDatingSites is a dating software support collaborative focused on providing technical services, support and resources for all Dating Software using PHP/MySQL as its core technology. Whether your Dating site is an Open Source Software project or any of the number of Commercial Dating Software Applications available, you will find a wide range of resources on the AllAboutDatingSites website, not just about the software but about the whole Dating Site business as well to help you enhance your whole Dating site operation, expertise and knowledge base.

Using a Community of Peers model, AllAboutDatingSites is positioned to provide a dating software technical support alternative and can provide timely problem resolutions and development resources to solve almost any dating software problem in a supportive, cost effective environment. Most of the advice, support and resources are low or no cost.

Better late than never! AllAboutDatingSites was intended to launch at the beginning of the year but due to significant changes in the Dating Software arena at that time, they decided to postpone the official launch until the some of the bumps in the roadmap got ironed out. Even with the new directions being put in place by some of the major dating software vendors, the need for an independent support collaborative is now as great as or greater than it has ever been. Hence, the decision to launch was the obvious choice.

AllAboutDatingSites' CEO, "All over the web you can find statements like, 'I got my dating site 80% ready to deploy and my developer disappeared', or 'I bought this package and I can't get the vendor to respond to my questions'. AllAboutDatingSites provides an alternative solution to these kinds of Dating Site issues, some minimal cost, some free, depends on the extent of the effort required to resolve the issue. Our community of experts are veteran problem solvers and very sympathetic and helpful to new comers to the Dating Business community because they have all 'been there'."

If you have been struggling getting your dating site up and running or trying to fix a critical problem with your site design or development or a bug you can not fix, you may be overlooking one of your most important resources - your other dating site colleagues. Some of the people who know the most about your dating software package or how to find problem resolutions are the experts who use the dating software products every day. They are also your best resource for site operation information, link exchanges, site promotion tips and viral marketing strategies.

AllAboutDatingSites is the dating software technical support alternative when your site is in big trouble and you need a more positive support experience for your problem resolution and development requirements.
