Arshnet, announced that Arshnet Technologies has signed an agreement with MaxMD, the official provider of .md domain names in the United States and over 90 countries worldwide.

Oct. 25, 2006 - PRLog -- Arshnet, announced that Arshnet Technologies has signed an agreement with MaxMD, the official provider of .md domain names in the United States and over 90 countries worldwide. Arshnet is now providing personalized .md domain names and HIPAA-enabled .mdEmail™ to complement current website offerings.

Abbas Mirza, CEO of Arshnet Technologies, commented: "MaxMD's products are a tremendous complement to our website solutions. This agreement presents a unique opportunity for our customers to obtain a relevant web address and secure HIPAA enabled email in a medical-centric, top-level domain."

According to Manhattan Research there are 99 million e-health consumers currently online searching for healthcare information. This reinforces the need for medical professionals to develop an online presence. Research indicates that, 86% of physicians support .md as the only Internet domain intuitively linked to the medical community. Also, 80% of medical professionals stated that a .md Web address is either important or very important to their medical practice.
