Mortgage Consulting Firm Offers Free Mortgage Websites to Help Loan Officers Enhance Their Marketing Efforts

Las Vegas, NV – November 28, 2006 – Three weeks after releasing their FreeLoanFlyers.com website, Dynamic Marketing Partners today announced the launch of their newest mortgage website, which makes professional mortgage websites available at no cost to industry professionals. The site can be viewed at <http://www.FreeLoanOfficerSites.com>.

“Most Loan Officers are busy working on completing their current customers’ transactions, or networking to prospect for new clients, and don’t have the time to dedicate to creating a web presence,” says Jeffrey Arnold, President of Dynamic Marketing Partners. “Our websites allow Loan Officers to create simple and professional sites in about three minutes with no cost.”

The FreeLoanOfficerSites.com website offers a number of templates from which a Loan Officer can choose. They then have the ability to enter a personalized message for their clients and a brief biography about themselves, along with their personal contact information.

“With this new site, along with our FreeLoanFlyers.com site, we are working toward building a one-stop site for mortgage professionals to handle all of their marketing efforts,” says Arnold. “Many Loan Officers are paying hefty monthly fees to firms like LionInc and Myers Internet for complex and utility-rich sites, but never get close to utilizing all of the tools that are provided by those sites. Our sites allow individuals who are looking to pare back costs and increase exposure the opportunity to accomplish both.”

Dynamic Marketing Partners provides web-based initiatives to assist mortgage specialists with their advertising efforts and provides training and business development consultation to the mortgage industry nationwide.

“By providing functional and inexpensive sites, as well as strategic tools to assist Loan Officers with their promotional campaigns, Dynamic Marketing Partners is already a valuable service provider in the mortgage industry,” says Arnold. “This website, along with our other free marketing tools, will help Loan Officers simplify and improve their marketing practices.”
