

Rich Jerk Goes From Rags to Riches Online

New website, Rich-Jerk-Evolution.com tells the tale of the mysterious millionaire going from the street to the Hollywood mansion

March 17, 2007 - PRLog -- The Rich Jerk is at it again. After the super successful release of the Rich Jerk ebook a couple of years ago and a reputation for foul mouth-offs, insults, and every effort to offend, a new membership website is available to the public. The site shows a video of one of the Rich Jerk's assistants flipping through months of huge commission checks from the networks that RJ works for and goes into more detail about the personal history of the mysterious man who's become the model of internet marketers worldwide.

Money-making programs abound on the internet, but the Rich Jerk makes it a question to be a huge cut above the rest. His infomercial played all last year on television, his ads display prominently on MySpace, one of the top ten most visited websites every day.

Most marketers are left behind and simply can't compete with that. To make his more advanced strategies available to those who are willing to pay more than the original Rich Jerk ebook, a new website promoted as the 2.0 upgrade from the first RJ ebook went live on Friday, March 16. The program is called Rich Jerk Evolution.

The entertainment factor of the website alone is enough to get it notoriety, Rich Jerk style. The main graphic that appears on the website depicts a homeless bum going from internet nerd to rich superstar with women. RJ's image is his branding, and is reinforced by the videos he had professionally made that are frequently watched on major video sharing websites like YouTube and Google Video.

As usual, the Rich Jerk promises big on the members-only content but provides a plethora of freebies for any newbie to internet marketing. The free content is great, but the members-only content is truly innovative and live up to RJ's promises of being "mind-blowing".

The membership fee is quite expensive for this type of thing, but the website over delivers on RJ's promises. It is dynamic, it is always up-to-date (unlike many membership websites) and also provides huge payout commissions for its members to refer others.
