Dated: Mar 24, 2007

The web conference room guy has created a new blog to share information about his web conferencing system and his online business.

CLEVELAND, OH (March 24, 2007) The “web conference room guy” announced today that he has created a web conferencing blog on the Internet. The web conference room guy, Jeffrey Sloe, has also announced, in addition to his new blog, that he has started a web conference training class for one of his online businesses, Photomax.

Mr. Sloe calls Photomax, “the best system to preserve your photos, and create photo memories that last a lifetime.” The majority of people have boxes of photographs sitting in their basements, closets, and attics. Mr. Sloe will explain the ins and outs of Photomax, during his web conferencing training class and explain how someone can benefit from Photomax’s service. To learn all about Jeffrey Sloe’s web conference room training go to www.jeffreysloe.com. You can also find information about web conferencing rooms and how they work. You will find plenty of links on Mr. Sloe’s blog that lead other projects he’s involved in.

Working on the Internet can be a challenge to many individuals, but Sloe believes that the benefits of marketing on the web far outweigh the challenges. According to Mr. Sloe, “the challenge is what keeps me motivated, and I believe its well worth the time and effort put forth.” Without a well conceived plan, proper training, and professional tools it’s difficult to succeed in Internet marketing. That’s why Sloe’s plan is to “be involved with experts that know the industry and what it takes to survive on the web, and also to use highest quality Internet marketing tools available.

The two premier marketing tools that Sloe has chosen are, Veretekk and Vereconference. Veretekk is the leading when it comes to lead generating and search engine optimization. It is, by far, the best tool available today. Vereconference, a state-of-the-art web conferencing system, is available at an affordable price, and gives Sloe the opportunity to educate and train several prospects at a time.

Lead generating is an important part of marketing on the Internet. Sloe uses Vereconference both for training and lead generating. Vereconference, part of Veretekk’s lead generating system, generates leads through a traffic portal site. Vereconference is just one of the many traffic portals in the Veretekk lead generating system.
