

Alli FDA Approval Makes it The Most Sought after Over-The-Counter Weight Loss Medication

By bourn peter

Dated: Apr 12, 2007

Alli Diet Pill is a reliable educative website providing information on Alli, Tenuate, Ionamin, Phentermine diet pill, Phendimetrazine, Adipex, Meridia (Sibutramine), and Acomplia (Rimonabant) diet pill.

Did you know that Alli is now FDA approved? 60mg Alli diet pill received FDA (Food and Drug Administration) on 7th February, 2007. Jack Harker, a senior marketing executive at Alli Diet Pill comments, "With FDA approval Alli has become one of the most sought after over-the-counter weight loss medication".

This non-prescription medication has gained popularity amongst the weight loss enthusiasts especially after the much awaited FDA approval. Alli diet pill can be simply understood as half the strength of prescription Xenical. Diet pill Alli is developed by Glaxo SmithKline with Orlistat as its active ingredient.

Efficacy of Alli diet pill is proven to be up to 85% benefit of prescription medication Xenical. On an average, with use of Alli medication individuals lost up to 6 pounds in comparison to following a diet alone for effective weight loss.

60mg Alli diet pill works on the same principle as Xenical medication that is by obstructing the dietary fat in the meal from getting absorbed into it. In this way, the body utilizes the already stored in fat to generate the required energy facilitating weight loss.

Alli Diet Pill is a reliable educative website providing information on Alli, Tenuate, Ionamin, Phentermine diet pill, Phendimetrazine, Adipex, Meridia (Sibutramine), and Acomplia (Rimonabant) diet pill. Information such as Alli information, diff Alli and Xenical are made accessible at Alli Diet Pill. Latest news and articles are also made accessible at Alli Diet Pill.

To get more information pertaining to Alli, visit at <http://www.allidietpill.net/>

Category	Health, Science, Medical
Tags	alli, tenuate, ionamin, phentermine diet pill, phendimetrazine, adipex, meridia sibutramine
Email	Click to email author
Website	http://www.allidietpill.net
Country	United States