Eurodesign BG Ltd., a VoIP solutions provider, introduced in the beginning of November its newest product MobiGater - Skype to GSM and GSM to Skype Gateway. This unique device connects your PC that runs Skype and your mobile phone. It acts as a gateway between these two devices allowing its users to make free Skype and very cheap SkypeOut international calls from their mobile phones wherever they are.

“The need to sit in front of your PC in order to make Skype calls or get an additional Skype cordless phone that is only working in a limited distant range from your computer, has motivated us to develop that incredible device” says Anton Mihalev, Sales Director in the company. “The use of MobiGater will drastically decrease the huge phone bills of the companies and especially the ones that make plenty of international calls from their mobiles or landlines”.

MobiGater combines all the advantages of the mobile phones and Skype telephony. It gives its users true mobility and free calls worldwide. All you need is one MobiGater device and an extra SIM card.

Unlike similar products currently on the market, MobiGater does not require neither any additional software for the user’s cell phone nor any special phone or handset.

MobiGater incorporates a range of features and capabilities that increase the benefits of using Skype:

- Receive Skype/SkypeIn calls on your mobile when you are away from your PC at no charge
- Make free calls , anytime and anywhere, from your mobile to your worldwide based Skype contacts
- Make very cheap international calls to non-Skype users via your mobile using SkypeOut. SkypeOut service is the cheapest way to make international calls. Using MobiGater you save up to 100% of your phone bills

The device connects to the USB port of your computer and with the preinstalled MobiGater software, it acts as a gateway for the Skype application, allowing users to forward calls to their mobile phones. Similarly, a user can make calls from his mobile phone just by dialing his MobiGater device and adding a predefined speed dial of his Skype contact.

Skype the world’s fastest-growing Internet communication software has attained over 171 million registered users as of November 2006 and is currently available in 28 languages and is used in almost every country in the world.
