

Walters Buildings Offers Fall/Winter Construction Specials for Ag Storage and Suburban Garages

Walters Buildings offers pricing specials for Fall/Winter construction of post frame buildings suitable for ag storage and suburban garages, for orders placed by September 30.

Aug. 15, 2007 - PRLog -- For those considering a new ag storage building or suburban garage, now is a good time to act. Leading Midwest post-frame building manufacturer Walters Buildings announced today Construction Specials for the 2007 fall and winter construction period, with special pricing for orders placed before September 30, 2007, on three of its most requested post-frame building configurations for ag storage buildings and suburban garages.

“The three specials we are offering this year are among our most popular designs for ag storage buildings and suburban garages and storage,” said Walters Buildings Vice President Sales and Marketing Brent Henschel. “These specials provide a great deal on a true Walters’ building, offering the assurance of the same material quality and construction techniques we’re known for but at a significant savings.”

The three Construction Specials offer the Walters Buildings trademark quality in the following post-frame buildings sizes:

- 24’ x 32’ x 10’ with 6:12 pitch
- 30’ x 40’ x 10’
- 42’ x 72’ x 12’ with raised chord truss

Each Special offers a unique floor plan and features with package pricing that includes gutters and downspouts, freight, tax and crew construction costs. Design specifications, floor plan drawings (including a printable version) and conditions of the Construction Specials for ag storage buildings or suburban garages are available at <http://www.waltersbuildings.com/specials.html>

The special pricing is available for construction sites located near a Walters Buildings construction center or participating Authorized Dealer. Currently the company has locations in Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, and Wisconsin.
