

CelebritySmackBlog.com Pokes Fun at Celebrity Endorsements Asking, What if They Endorsed Candy?

By CelebritySmackBlog.com

Dated: Aug 31, 2007

CelebritySmackBlog.com wondered, what if the market for celebrity candy endorsements were hot? Who would represent what candy and why? Well marvel no more. Celebrity Smack shows us how it might just be.

It seems Hollywood celebrities endorse everything these days.

It's crazy. You can't open a magazine or watch television without seeing them promote some sort of useless product. From clothing to beauty products and even fast food. But you don't usually see celebrities endorsing candy and you probably never will. (Unless they happen to have one named after them!)

It's one of the only things safe from being recommended by famous A-listers and sports figures.

So Celebrity Smack wondered, what if the market for celebrity candy endorsements were hot? Who would represent what candy and why? Well marvel no more. <http://CelebritySmackBlog.com> shows us how it might just be.

Visit <http://CelebritySmackBlog.com> for all the mock endorsements. A fun article that makes light of Hollywood stars and the crazy world of celebrity endorsements. If you love celebrity gossip and entertainment news, visit the celebrity gossip blog hosted by 'Spicy Pants' that has been online since 2004.

###

Celebrity Smack is a Celebrity Gossip Blog that has been Online Since 2004

Contact Information:

CelebritySmackBlog.com
CelebritySmack@gmail.com

| | |
|----------------|--|
| Category | Society, Media, Celebrity |
| Tags | celebrity, endorsements, candy, Hollywood, Entertainment, celebrities, actors, actresses, endorse, advertisements, ads |
| Email | Click to email author |
| Website | http://celebritysmackblog.com |
| Phone | 425-345-5780 |
| State/Province | California |
| Country | United States |