Baltimore's Fashion Week Is Looking For Talented Models Needed The City's First Annual Event

Baltimore, MD --- Baltimore's Fashion Week's casting call will take place at Enoch Pratt Free Library (Walbrook Branch). The model call is an opportunity for aspiring models and working models to have a chance to grace the runway at this premiere fashion event. The casting call will take place on November 24, 2007.

Models of all ethnicities and body proportions/sizes are encouraged to come out and audition for Baltimore's Fashion Week's many runway shows. "We are looking for poise. We are looking for grace. We are looking for talent," says Sharan Nixon, CEO/President of Baltimore's Fashion Week.

Saran Fossett, C.E.O of Reign Model Management for more than 20 years had this to say about the upcoming casting call, "I know talent when I see it. "You either have it or you don't. It's that simple," Fossett, is the Executive Producer of Baltimore's Fashion Week. Fossett will be bringing to this event her wisdom and knowledge as the runway coach for Baltimore's Fashion Week.

All models are expected to bring a completed copy of the model registration form, a photo, and heels (men remember to bring your leather shoes [hard bottom]). Model registration forms are located on the site www.baltimoresfashionweek.com, under the Registration Forms tab.

The facilitators of the casting call are looking for models that are professional and punctual. "I do not tolerate lateness and my events to start on time!" says Nixon.
