

Premier wedding venue, Loseley Park, helps lovebirds have a dream wedding for budget prices

Loseley Park venue fees have been reduced by up to 80% for weddings taking place midweek or in the New Year and couples planning their wedding on a budget can still have the dream day.

Dec. 11, 2007 - PRLog -- Loseley Park are helping couples planning their special day to have their dream wedding, in elegant and beautiful surroundings, on a budget, by slashing prices for midweek weddings in the New Year to just £800 for the day.

A stately home, Loseley Park is a premier wedding venue in Surrey and the UK, with hundreds of years of history and patronised by Kings and Queens in 16th and 17th centuries and provides the perfect backdrop to any wedding and the photos that are a lasting memory.

By ensuring their midweek and out of season venue fees give as much value for money as possible Loseley opens itself up to many budget conscious couples planning their wedding who want to 'live the dream'.

Here are two case studies of couples that have had a midweek or out of season wedding at Loseley Park:

David & Kathryn Loup, Kingston-upon-Thames, Surrey

Wedding Day: Monday 24th September 2007

David proposed to Kathryn last year on 25th September and the couple wanted to get married as close to that date as possible this year. Although not on a particular budget, getting married on a Saturday would have meant some cutbacks in their plans. "We could have organised the wedding on a Saturday, but we would have had to lower our standards for several other services and features." said David.

He added, "Not spending too much on the venue allowed us to have a wedding with everything we wanted: live music, vintage car for hire, buying the dress for Kathryn rather than renting it. We were even able to spend a bit more on some things, like the cake and the wine and champagne."

"The day itself was absolutely fantastic and the venue itself looked even better on our wedding day than it did when we visited it previously, benefiting from the very specific atmosphere created by the event.

"We would most definitely recommend Loseley as a venue. All members of staff were friendly and helpful, from the first appointment with Mr More-Molyneux to Nicky's assistance on the day itself. The building had a wonderful 'wow' effect on every guest and the gorgeous gardens left space for everyone to wander and enjoy the day and relax."

Putting aside the obvious requirements and factors for what sounds like a dream wedding, David and Kathryn had some practical benefits from having a week-day wedding. "Our guests were happy to take a day off work if need be, as they wanted to be there to share the day with us. One comment we had was: No one wants to go back to work on a Monday, I would much prefer to go to a wedding!"

Laura & Mark Parris, Farnham, Surrey

Wedding Day: Saturday 20th January 2007

Laura and Mark liked the idea of a winter wedding and knew that a venue like Loseley would already be fully booked for the summer and they didn't want to wait.

"We knew that the summer would be busy and that we probably couldn't afford a place like Loseley then anyway” says Laura “so having a New Year wedding there was the best choice and the saving we made meant that we didn’t have to cut back elsewhere. We had everything we wanted on the day and more.”

Choosing to have their wedding in January, they thought that the house at Loseley would look stunning in their wedding photos and it did. “It was a lovely sunny, winter afternoon – it was perfect. The house looked great in the sunshine.

“I had done a 10k run for Cancer Research at Loseley and knew what a lovely location it was and the fact that it is a family owned venue and not a big corporate venture, was also a factor in our decision. The staff, service and food on the day were amazing and we were very impressed, so were our guests.”
