

Food Blogger Supriyaraman.com Collaborates With Lokvani.com

By Supriyaraman.com

Dated: Jan 11, 2008

Food blogger Supriya Raman is set to write for the Massachusetts-based preeminent Asian-Indian e-newsletter called Lokvani.com. The focus of her writing will be on food, providing recipes, Indian restaurant reviews and much more.

Framingham, MA – Food blogger Supriya Raman, based in the metro-west suburb of Boston, will begin contributing to Lokvani.com beginning January 2008 for their food section. She already writes two popular blogs at www.supriyaraman.com and now will provide content focused at the Asian-Indian community in the northeast.

Supriya Raman is a bioinformaticist and an avid blogger, who writes on two distinctly different subjects. One focuses on business, lifestyle, philosophy and the world at large. Another is focused on celebrating food from around the globe, celebrating the importance of food in life and other food related trends.

Her blogging career has been relatively brief, starting in mid-2007, but her website and blogs generated more 25,000 views before the year ended. She has also been quoted in a WIRED article about a trend that she spotted, called “Buffalax” that was growing in popularity on YouTube.

She draws readers to her based on her sense of appreciation for the finer details in international and local cultures and cuisines. People are instantly hooked to her words and personality. She will be providing Indian and international recipes for Lokvani.com readers along with independent Indian restaurant reviews and interviews with successful food entrepreneurs in Boston.

For additional information on the news that is the subject of this release please contact Supriya Raman through the contact page on www.supriyaraman.com.

About Supriya Raman:

You can find out more from her website at www.supriyaraman.com or use the contact page to get in touch. She is available for freelance opportunities for online media content contributions.

Contact:

www.supriyaraman.com or 508-309-4550

###

Supriya Raman is a bioinformaticist based in Framingham, MA. She is an avid blogger, who writes on two distinctly different subjects. One focuses on business, lifestyle, philosophy and the world at large. Another is focused on celebrating food from around the globe, celebrating the importance of food in life and other food trends.

Her two blogs are at:

My Truth (<http://mylifemantra.wordpress.com/>)

Ode2Food (<http://ode2food.wordpress.com/>)

Both are accessible through www.supriyaraman.com

Category	Food, Media, Technology
Tags	food, lokvani, writer, blog
Email	Click to email author
Website	http://www.supriyaraman.com
Phone	508-309-4550
Fax	901-234-7687
City/Town	Framingham
State/Province	Massachusetts
Zip	01701
Country	United States