Roxwel Taps Into IndieSolo's Niche Music Community By Adding Its Original Content To The Site

AUSTIN, Texas -- Blastro Networks' music entertainment site Roxwel.com partners with the recently launched IndieSolo.com by offering the site a bi-weekly rotation of four artist commentaries, which showcase musicians not signed to a major label. These picture-in-picture commentaries feature a band critiquing its latest music video, giving fans the artist's perspective behind the video's creation. Roxwel's new page on IndieSolo adds a personal element to the in-depth profiles of emerging indie artists hosted daily on the site.

Understanding the thought process that goes into music video production allows fans the chance to get to know their favorite bands on a more intimate level. To get a behind-the-scenes look at the making of videos featured this week on IndieSolo, check out: <http://www.indiesolo.com/special/roxwel>. Roxwel's inventory of artist commentaries spans over 100 selections from a variety of bands, including TV on the Radio, 30 Seconds to Mars, Hinder, Ben Kweller, The Graduate, Plain White T's, Maria Taylor and many more.
