

The Sale Begins At Quality DJ

By Top Position

Dated: Jan 21, 2008

The Sale has started for all budding and professional D.J's at the UK's leading D.J equipment suppliers, Quality D.J and SI Sound and Light. With massive savings on turntables, scratch mixers, dual CD players, headphones and much, much more Headlining Quality DJ's sale is the amazing Serato Scratch Live, down from £438.00 to an unbeatable £349.00, and with Quality DJ's price match commitment and free next day delivery on all orders over £500.00. Quality D.J and SI Sound and Light is the premiere one-stop shop for all your DJ equipment needs.

The Serato Scratch first burst onto the scene a year ago with its studio edition, a package aimed more at the turntablist producer than the straight-up DJ, for the simple reason that it ran as a plug-in for professional production package Pro Tools. Nevertheless it picked up high praise from respected scratch DJs like A-Trak, Babu and The Mixologists, and the immediate success of Serato Scratch SE generated enormous interest in the Live version they had slated for release. Furthermore, its arrival marks the first collaboration between Serato and Rane, pairing the former's groundbreaking software with the latter's innovative pro DJ kit.

The principle behind Serato Scratch Live is very similar to that behind Final Scratch, in that the package consists of control records, DJ software and a hardware box that forms the interface between your decks, mixer and computer. Loading your own collection is easy and can be done by folder or individual track, either by dragging them directly from Windows into the Serato Scratch library or via the import button on the software interface. Sorting your library is simple and efficient thanks to a limitless 'crate' system that allows you to place any given track into multiple crates, a feature that proves very useful if you have an eclectic collection, full of tunes that straddle different styles and genres.

Those wishing to purchase can browse the stock base online or call through for advice. An experienced customer service team is on hand to offer technical and product-specific advice, ranging from a breakdown of the most appropriate model for any given purpose to comparing similar products from different manufacturers.

Neil Silver, director of Quality DJ said, "The Quality DJ showroom is stocked full of the latest equipment and innovations in sound technology. We understand that making music is a very personal thing and for that reason, our Showroom has a selection of products available for review. We encourage clients to try before they buy and you are welcome to use your own headphones or music to try out the equipment in store."
