

Roxwel's Weekly Vlog Variety Features The Latest Bands And Industry Chatter

By Blastro Networks

Dated: Jan 31, 2008

Roxwel.com Releases Original Content on Amy Winehouse, Jessica Simpson, Carrie Underwood, Scott Weiland, Evergreen Terrace and the Silversun Pickups

AUSTIN, Texas—Blastro Networks' music entertainment site Roxwel.com consistently provides its viewers with high quality, original programming. Dishing up the latest rock gossip and supplying metalheads with the most current news in video releases, Roxwel.com also features uncut interviews with today's most popular rock, indie and metal bands. As a leader in the online music entertainment space, Roxwel.com announces its most recent releases for the week of January 28, 2008.

Kristi Lee's Dirty Mouth covers the instantly infamous crack-smoking video of British singing sensation Amy Winehouse (<http://www.roxwel.com/player/dirtymouthamysmokingcrack.html>). Only begging Winehouse to get some help, Kristi usually rips a bit harder, which she most certainly does chronicling the Jessica Simpson and Carrie Underwood feud over Tony Romo. You'll never guess who makes a guest appearance and blames overbearing Simpson for the Cowboys' loss (<http://www.roxwel.com/player/dirtymouthjessicasimpsonclawscarrie.html>). Next up? Velvet Revolver's Scott Weiland, formerly of Guns N' Roses, flakes out on VR's Sundance performance, which evolves into a high-profile karaoke event featuring GNR classics. How does Weiland redeem himself? Kristi reports on a rumored Stone Temple Pilots reunion to take place in the next couple months (<http://www.roxwel.com/player/dirtymouthstpreunion.html>).

Chuck's Metal Supply brings viewers the latest in metal video releases. This week he covers Evergreen Terrace, named after the fictional neighborhood from The Simpsons. Their song "Chaney Can't Quite Riff Like Helmet's Page Hamilton" apparently has nothing to do with Page Hamilton—according to Hamilton himself, who didn't even know the song existed, and Chuck's analysis of the song. To see for yourself, check Chuck and the video out here: <http://www.roxwel.com/player/metalsupplyevergreenterrace.html>.

Last up this week is Toby Ryan's Uncut interview with the Silversun Pickups in Austin's 101X studios (<http://www.roxwel.com/player/silversunpickupsuncut.html>). Watch Toby shake things up with Brian Aubert and Christopher Guanlao before their sold out performance at Emo's. Because of Toby's laid back, atypical interview style, he moves beyond the basics and gets the goods on where the Silversun Pickups hang out after South by Southwest, why they're bringing back Lilith Fair and much more. Catch some live footage from their Emo's performance during the interview, and check out Roxwel.com's complete catalog of SSPU content here: <http://www.roxwel.com/artists/artistpage/Silversun+Pickups.html?shash=25c4a0b1a1264b9fc303fda3f459eede>.

About Blastro Networks

Austin, TX, based Blastro Networks operates at the intersection of online music entertainment, covering everything from hot new music videos and industry news to its own original programming. Blastro Networks runs several different genre specific music websites that offer advertisers the most efficient means of reaching their target audience. Blastro.com (www.blastro.com) is an urban-centric site for hip-hop, Latin and R&B fans. Roxwel.com (www.roxwel.com) conglomerates rock, metal and indie entertainment, and Yallwire.com (www.yallwire.com) features country, bluegrass and Christian artists.

Category Music, Entertainment, Technology

Tags roxwel, amy winehouse, jessica simpson, carrie underwood, scott weiland, evergreen terrace, silversun pickups, blastro

Email Click to email author
Website <http://www.blastro.com>
Phone 512.485.3148 x812
Address 609 W. 18th St.
Suite C
City/Town Austin
State/Province Texas
Zip 78701
Country United States