With so many companies offering products and services in the teeth whitening industry consumers have never had so much choice to getting the best possible product for their teeth and their budget.

In the last 5 years the rise of the teeth whitening industry has been huge and today consumers have so much choice when it comes to teeth whitening. The high street stores and the supermarkets are offering many different types of home teeth whitening kits and tooth pastes and this can offer consumers an inexpensive option to remove the staining from their teeth.

Other teeth whitening options include the stain removing strips that are sold on e-bay which are normally supplied direct from the USA. The dentists offer many of their clients teeth whitening services and this normally involves having a mould made for your mouth and then inserting the mould with the stain removing gel in the mouth every day for 14 to 21 days.

Smile Quest teeth whitening offer a laser teeth whitening solution which can around one hour and customers are finding that the reducing cost of laser teeth whitening combined with good results and the fact the treatment only takes one hour is why the Smile quest system is very popular.

In the USA laser teeth whitening is also known as Zoom teeth whitening or blue light teeth whitening which essentially is the same and sometimes these different names also indicate to consumers there are in fact many more teeth whitening options than there is in reality.

This article is not an advert for Smile Quest the company who are based in the UK and offer teeth whitening solutions to salons and customers directly and their brand is growing that they are now seen as one of the pioneers of new technology and innovation in the laser teeth whitening industry but to highlight the fact that Smile Quest and their products are becoming known with consumers as one the prominent brands in the teeth whitening industry.

With more and more choice for consumers this can only be good for everyone including dentists, professional teeth whitening specialists, consumers and retailers alike. The UK teeth whitening market is still many years behind the USA and even Australia.
