LAPTOP Recognizes iolo PC Tune-up Software

LAPTOP Magazine has selected System Mechanic Professional (<http://www.iolo.com/sm/7/pro>) as the "Best Utilities Software" for 2008, marking the third major award that System Mechanic Professional has garnered in less than four months. According to LAPTOP, iolo's flagship product is "among the most complete utility suites we've seen."

"This suite does deep scanning of your system, offers to turn on security settings, and finds system errors other scanners miss," continued LAPTOP's editors.

ABOUT SYSTEM MECHANIC PROFESSIONAL

Los Angeles-based iolo technologies has built its fortune and reputation on System Mechanic (<http://www.iolo.com/sm/7/std>), the best-selling PC Tune-up utility. The professional version of System Mechanic combines sophisticated registry repair, memory and hard drive defrag, Internet optimization, and junk file cleanup with a powerful personal security suite.

In addition to complete PC maintenance, System Mechanic Professional offers a rescue program for accidentally deleted files, a military-strength data erasing utility, iolo Personal Firewall, and complete protection against malware.

PRICING AND SYSTEM REQUIREMENTS

System Mechanic Professional (<http://www.iolo.com/sm/7/pro>) runs on 32-bit Windows Vista, XP, and 2000, and retails for $69.95 ($39.95 for upgrades). A single license can be used on up to three PCs.
