Here is an excerpt from Ivan's Engraving webpage:

“Engraving is the practice of incising a design onto a hard, flat surface, by cutting grooves into it. The result may be a decorated object in itself, as when silver, gold or steel are engraved, or may provide an intaglio printing plate, of copper or another metal, for printing images on paper, which are called engravings. Engraving was a historically important method of producing images on paper, both in artistic printmaking, and also for commercial reproductions and illustrations for books and magazines. It has long been replaced by photography in its commercial applications and, partly because of the difficulty of learning the technique, is much less common in printmaking, where it has been largely replaced by etching and other techniques.”

User's can find more engraving information on Ivan's Engraving website at: <http://www.cncinformation.com/engraving-personalized-engraving-cnc-engraver/>. Engraving and CNC aren't necessarily two topics that come together in people's mind but they are intertwined more than one may think.
