Word Recovery Toolbox released

Word Recovery Toolbox can easily repair damaged documents and templates in Microsoft Word format. The program permits to avoid critical data. Actually, Microsoft Office package and Microsoft Word in particular represent a widespread program, that can process any document, for private and corporate use. First of all, Word Recovery Toolbox quickly scans and attempts to recover damaged file, only contents and links will be extracted, without source formatting. When the document is damaged heavily, some parts of your document may be lost without a possibility to be recovered. When recovery process is over, repaired data will be displayed on the screen, you can check it and make sure, that blind spots are absent. After this, registered customers can save recovered data to any document in Microsoft Word format, it is also possible to save it as a plain text file. That's all, you can now open this documents with Microsoft Word text processor, for example, and start working with it. It should be noted, that source file will not be modified during recovery process.

Word Recovery Toolbox will process text files of different formats: documents and templates in Microsoft Word format (supported extensions are: .doc, .docx, .dot, and .dotx) as well as Rich Text files (.rtf format). This program can recover text only, all images, tables and source formatting will be lost. Here are some features of Word Recovery Toolbox:

- This program can recover data from damaged documents and templates in Microsoft Word format, located on damaged removable media (CDs, floppy disks, DVDs, flash drives, etc.);
- Word Recovery Toolbox Word repair tool supports repair docx file, recover Word file and recovery for Word via your local network;
- It is possible to export recovered data to a plain text file or to a file in Microsoft Word format.
