Sarah Asher Tua Geronimo is a Filipina singer and actress . She is the grand winner of the Philippine reality show Star for a Night (2003).

In 2007, Sarah has toured major cities in the US, Australia, Canada, Europe and UAE.

She is currently a mainstay of ASAP '07, a once-a-week, noontime musical variety show, and also hosts Little Big Superstar, a reality star search program for aspiring child performers that has recently concluded its third season. Geronimo released a new single "Reach For The Sky" which was included on the soundtrack for "Little Big Superstar" along with co-host Makisig Morales. She also took the female lead role in ABS-CBN's primetime drama Pangarap Na Bituin opposite Jericho Rosales along with Maja Salvador and Nikki Gil as the trio The Jewel Sisters also with Rica Peralejo.

Also, she staged a sold-out second major solo concert last July 14, 2007 at the Araneta Coliseum entitled Sarah Geronimo In Motion. Sarah also concluded Sarah Geronimo In Motion US tour last August-September 2007 with an astounding reception from Filipino communities in the US.

Shortly after staging her second solo major concert, she released her fourth studio album entitled Taking Flight which has sales of over 30,000 copies, achieving Platinum status in a short period of time after its release. Taking Flight's lead single "I'll Be Alright" topped different charts in the Philippines as well as the second single "Ikaw". Unlike the music video for "Ikaw", "I'll Be Alright" has its live video taken from her "In Motion" Tour recorded live in the Araneta Coliseum.

Geronimo released "Sarah Geronimo In Motion DVD" on February 27, 2008. After the Champions tour, she will stay in LA to record with Howie D, a member of The Backstreet Boys.
