AUSTIN, Texas—With nearly 2,000 bands showcased during a five day span at this year's South by Southwest (SXSW) Music Festival, it was beyond impossible for fans to catch even a fraction of the talent. And that's where Blastro Networks' music entertainment site Roxwel (www.roxwel.com) steps in, bringing you highlights from this year's buzz bands and those under the radar too.

Releasing 24 additional pieces of content thus far (part one of Roxwel's SXSW content included Moby, American Bang, Boombox, Kissinger and Sounds Under Silence), Roxwel's 101x In Studio series features Toby Ryan chatting it up with the industry's up-and-coming musicians, not only giving you an intimate look at these artists but several exclusive acoustic performances as well. It's the side of SXSW that you did not see at the sponsored day parties and nighttime showcases, and Roxwel is your ticket.

Recently released content features: Nada Surf, Hanson, Rocco DeLuca, Jim Ward, Casey McPherson, Heloise and the Savoir Faire, Low vs Diamond, The Airborne Toxic Event, Smackola, The Donnas, The Lemurs, Vampire Weekend, Scary Kids Scaring Kids, Flyleaf, Phantom Planet, Tom Morello, The Black Keys, Young Heart Attack & Electric Touch, Atmosphere, The Whigs, Ludo and People In Planes.
