Dated: May 14, 2008

Discover how to turn complete strangers into lifetime referral partners that will generate multiple streams of income. An exclusive interview with a network marketing expert, Hal Coleman.

Skyline Coaching is offering you the opportunity to listen to an exclusive interview with networking expert Hal Coleman of Briar Patch Marketing (<http://www.SuccessfulNetworkingSecrets.com>).

Nickolove Lovemore of Skyline Coaching will be probing the man known as "The Networking Ninja" to share his secrets for successful networking and, in particular, 'relationship networking'.

If you're looking for a low-cost and yet highly effective solution for recruiting new clients, generating new business and putting more cash in the bank then relationship networking is the answer. The problem is that most people do not know how to network effectively. So they attend events, meetings, seminars and the like - fertile ground for new clients - but generally walk away with a bunch of business cards that they never do anything with.

One person that this does not hold true for is Hal Coleman. He has amassed over 20 years of networking experience and distilled it into a powerful leads generation system that he now teaches to others.

Coleman owns a pest control company in Atlanta, Georgia - North Fulton Exterminating. And, while we want to rid our homes and offices from pests, pest control does not generally make for riveting conversation.

Yet, Coleman has built his company from a "one-man-with-a-spray can" operation into a successful million dollar business. He attributes networking in local groups such as BNI, Leads Inc., Chamber of Commerce, and many other local independent networking groups for his success.

So his methods obviously work. What's more, while his methods can be applied to any type and any size of business, his methods are especially effective for small businesses working on a tight budget.

"Brand Marketing is for companies who have a huge amount of money to spend and a lot of time to sit back and wait for it to work. Small business owners don't have that kind of time or money. They need to be able to spend a dollar today, and get back 2 dollars tomorrow. That's what direct response marketing does. I teach people how to incorporate this type of marketing into their networking efforts."

At a time when businesses are feeling the pinch of a slowing economy, creative, low-cost marketing solutions have perhaps never been more important. And the networking marketing strategies that Coleman teaches are what he has used and continues to use to grow his business.

"If I say it works, it's because I am doing it myself and you can do it too. If you are sick and tired of paying big bucks for advertising that either falls far short of your expectations or doesn't work at all, and you are ready to take charge of your own marketing and unsure the growth and prosperity of your business that you deserve, you need to give me a call and let's talk. I think you'll like what I have to say."

The next best thing to having a one-to-one conversation with Coleman is to listen in as he shares the secrets to his success via a teleseminar.
