Bringing Moroccan tiles directly to the United States and offering them online allows people to shop from the comfort of their home and eliminates the immediate need to travel in order to bring another culture into their home or design plan. It is also convenient for those who have traveled to Morocco and now want to have a part of that culture with them here in the United States.

Moroccan design and décor surfaced a few short years ago on several home-decorating shows. It created a wave of interest for many interior designers and decorators, as well as the average person who just wanted to add some life and excitement into their home. Moroccan tiles are an integral part of Moroccan society and history and offer designers and home decorators an opportunity to incorporate traditional Moroccan design into any space. The geometrical patterns of each Moroccan tile date back centuries and reflect the history of the rich and vibrant Moroccan culture. Each Moroccan tile motif is significant and symbolic be it geometrical or floral, which are the prominent design elements that dominate Moroccan furniture and décor design.

Star of Morocco's recent collection of Moroccan tiles offers a variety of colors, designs and usages to accommodate a wide range of design plans at an affordable cost. The authentic and traditional designs of this recent collection give people the opportunity to incorporate the history of Morocco into their own space, be it traditional or modern. Moroccan tiles have the flexibility to work with many design styles. This recent shipment of Moroccan tiles brings Star of Morocco to the forefront of keeping up with the evolving popularity and increased demand of Moroccan design in the United States.
