SeminarInformation.com has just updated the largest database of seminars on the Internet making it easier to find a seminar locally and get needed training while avoiding costly travel.

"We have thousands of seminars listed on our website," states Catherine Bellizzi, President of SeminarInformation.com, "these seminars are given in cities both large and small and the odds are that there is something near where you live making it easier to get the training you need while avoid the hassles and cost of travel."

www.SeminarInformation.com is the largest database of seminars and conferences on the Internet with over 360,000 seminars given by over 600 seminar sponsoring organizations. Users of the free site can search for a seminar by location, date, topic, title or sponsor and then read the complete outline of the course and register online or by phone, toll-free, at 877-SEM-INFO.

Seminars from sponsors including American Trainco, Cross Country Education, Karrass, National Seminars, Learning Tree International, Padgett Thompson, Skillpath, The American Management Association and Fred Pryor have just been updated on the user-friendly website.

"We've tried to make it as easy as possible to find just the right training program for your needs," adds Bellizzi. "We've been around since 1981 and are the recognized experts in the training field. Just give us a call if you need assistance or if you have any questions."

Seminar experts are available to help with searches, assist in selections, answer questions or even arrange to have a seminar come to a location of your choice for larger groups of attendees.
