

Free Webinar: Creating and Delivering an Employee Orientation Program

By HRSentry

Dated: Jun 25, 2008

A webinar that will discuss both the importance and steps to creating and implementing an effective employee orientation program.

On July 8, 2008 at 2 p.m. HRSentry will be hosting a free webinar that will discuss both the importance and steps to creating and implementing an effective employee orientation program. Employee retention and productivity can be impacted by a number of different organizational forces, which start the moment the employee steps in the door to interview for the job. One of the most important things to remember is that first impressions can set the tone for the whole experience. You want to make sure that both the employee and the organization are on the same page and know what to expect from each other.

Get started with your employee orientation program by going to the <http://www.hr Sentry.com> and clicking the link "Register Now" tab on the right side of the page.

The Webinar will be presented by Brenda Sabin and run for about one hour. Participants will receive a free 30 day trial of the HR Made Simple Kit. Email support@hrsentry.com or visit the HRSentry Homepage with any questions regarding the upcoming webinar.
