

What is your perspective on Business Plans?

By Warren Rutherford

Dated: Aug 08, 2008

"We say we are going to do one thing, may write something else, and actually do something entirely different." Is this you, no written plan, poorly written objectives, limited non-financial objectives, infrequent review of performance to plan?

What Could You Use to Do it differently?

- A plan for every business unit—online?
- A balanced scorecard for EVERY objective—online?
- A balanced scorecard for each and every business unit—online?
- A planned action status report for each and every planned action—online?
- A business plan schematic for the whole company, updated monthly—online?

A One Page® Plan is a simple, straight-forward process that requires concentrated thinking on core issues, and produces a tool that is useful throughout the year.

What does it entail?

Each One Page® Plan addresses the 5 key questions for every business for your Vision, Mission, Objectives, Strategies, and Action Plan.
