

Former White House Speechwriter Michael Johns, Provides Americans Inside View of Washington Politics

By John Barnhart

Dated: Sep 03, 2008

Michael Johns, White House speechwriter to President George H.W. Bush, is the special guest of radio talk show host John Barnhart on the Heading Right Radio Channel tonight at 7pm CST.

Michael Johns experiences within the White House, on Capitol Hill and within the Heritage Foundation make him uniquely qualified to provide Americans an honest and insightful view of the evolution of Washington politics, including the current presidential race between Senators John McCain and Barack Obama.

Michael Johns is a former White House speechwriter to President George H. W. Bush, he was a senior aide to former New Jersey Governor and 9/11 Commission Chairman Tom Kean (R-NJ), and a senior US Senate aide to U.S. Senator Olympia Snowe (R-ME).

Michael was a policy analyst at the Heritage Foundation and editor of the foundation's scholarly magazine, Policy Review. His award-winning writings have appeared in The Wall Street Journal, The Christian Science Monitor, National Review, CBS Health Watch and in other national media.

He has appeared on PBS, CNBC, C-SPAN, Fox Morning News, and other networks. He is also the author of a widely-read conservative Blog "Michael Johns on Freedom and Prosperity" which is available at <http://michaeljohnsonfreedomandprosperity.blogspot.com>

He will be the special guest of talk radio host John Barnhart on his show tonight from 7pm to 8pm CST (8pm to 9pm EST)
