Dated: Sep 29, 2008

Ladies In Business Today is focussed on helping Ladies in Business be successful by balancing all aspects of their lives. We will bring you live interviews with successful business women from Work At Home Moms to Corporate Business Women.

Are you a woman who is trying to build your business online, or use the Internet to do business? Are you a Work At Home Mom? Or perhaps you are thinking about starting a business?

Are you trying to market to women and just not certain how to 'break into' that market?

Charly Leetham and Carol Deckert announce their Ladies In Business Today Speaker Series. Join them as they interview and speak with 8 highly successful and amazing Ladies In Business to find out how they have managed to balance their Work and Home life to be incredibly successful.

On September 30, Carol and Charly will speaking with Lynn Terry.

2008 marks the beginning of Lynns 12th year in business. She works from my home office full-time, while raising her two children in Tennessee.

Lynns last "real" job was as a Unix Sys Admin which she left in 1996 to start her first business. Some of her experience over the last decade includes professional web development, managing an international web team, start-up consulting, computer training, Professional Advisor for Intuit, partnerships with 2 wholesale/eBay companies, PowerSeller training, and business-related speaking engagements.

Lynn received the May 2003 Best of Success Award at Total Life Success and is a contributing author to a #1 Best-Seller titled Wake Up... Live the Life You Love! She has been featured on Entrepreneur Magazine's home biz talk radio show, as well as several other talk shows through both wsRadio and World Talk Radio.

Through their series of indepth interviews with 8 highly successful women, Carol and Charly aim to encourage other women in their business endeavors and demonstrate that it is possible to succeed when trying to balance the different demands that Women have in their lives. They will also provide insight into the womens market and highlight the factors that drive womens purchasing decisions.

These interviews won't be your standard Q & A interview. Carol and Charly will dig deep and ask the interviewee to give something that they haven't previously revealed. These interviews promise to be fun and information packed and you will walk away with your head swimming full of ideas!

In this weeks interview, Lynn will be sharing how she has met the challenges of developing a successful business and balanced their 'outside' life in the meantime. Lynn will provide practical advice that you can implement almost immediately on how you can manage your business to be successful (but not worn out!)

As part of the interview series, Charly and Carol will open the lines up to a Question and Answer session - so you will be able to get the answers that you have always been looking for!
