American Trainco provides training and services as experts in the field of maintenance for plants, facilities and industry. Each year they conduct more than 2,700 seminars in hundreds of cities throughout North America as well as selected international locations.

They have trained over 75,000 satisfied students. American Trainco was founded upon industry veterans with vast experience and success. John Schuster (President and CEO) and Dan Sciantarelli (Vice-President of Sales) have over 50 years combined experience in bringing quality education to the maintenance worker.

Since their inception in July of 2002, a host of industry veterans have joined the American Trainco team as instructors and managers, quickly developing the company into the leading facility and plant maintenance training company in the US.

SeminarInformation.com, the website of Seminar Information Service, Inc. who since 1981 has been the recognized expert in the field, lists thousands of dates and locations for seminars presented by hundreds of seminar sponsoring organizations.

Visitors to the website can find and compare seminars easily. Search criteria available includes dates, locations, keywords, sponsor listings and, of course, titles of seminars. Once a seminar has been found, complete outlines of the courses are listed including who should attend and where available instructor bios.

Registration for the seminars is made easy either directly online or by toll free phone at 877-SEM-INFO (736-4646). Seminar experts are available to answer any questions, assist with registrations or make recommendations.
