

Measured Chaos Returns to Southeast Michigan on Wednesday, October 22, 2008

By Detroit Blues Society

Dated: Oct 18, 2008

The Michigan leg of their tour begins with a call to WCSX's Mark Pasman at 9pm on Sunday, October 19.

After kicking off their fall mini-tour with a show in Los Angeles, "spreading the news," Measured Chaos returns to southeast Michigan on Wednesday, October 22, 2008 with a healthy dose of Blues, Soul & Rock 'n Roll

The Michigan leg of their tour begins with a call to WCSX's Mark Pasman at 9pm on Sunday, October 19. The week rounds out with a spot on Mitch Albom's show, and appearances in Royal Oak, Grand Rapids and Ann Arbor.

About Measure Chaos

Blues, Soul & Rock 'n' Roll. These three ingredients are Measured Chaos' inspiration, as well as their direction. The band is heavily influenced by Chicago's classic blues, Detroit's R&B, the Rock music explosion of the late sixties, and they have the pedigrees to prove it.

Al Jacquez, Mark Tomorsky, Mark Gougeon and Bill Gordon enjoyed impressive musical careers before being fused together as Measured Chaos. Their collective credits include; Savage Grace, Lightnin', Mitch Ryder, Guardian Angel, Mark Lindsay, Little Richard, Billy Preston, Jamie James, John Mellencamp, Johnny Powers, The Suspects, The Reflections, Frigid Pink, as well as work for commercials, film and television.

Live shows by the Detroit based quartet are a powerful reminder that connecting with an audience is the most important part of any performance. It brings a physical definition to the phrase "substance over style." No histrionics. No explosions. No fake personas. Just honest, "from the footprint of their soul" performances, revealing a life spent working to get to this point.
