New Ebook Directory opens with unique Ebooks and Ecourses. Some free Ebooks are available and others are now encouraged to submit their own Ebook products.

Athens, TN - A new Ebook store is open in town! Tim Davis has just opened the Received Text Ebook Directory for business and wants you to know that he carries some new and unique Ebooks. These are not being sold anywhere else, and there are also some free Ebooks, too.

One such Ebook, called House Plan Drafting 101, Learning to Draw House Plans in A No Nonsense Way, teaches the reader how to draw their own house plans. This EXE Ebook is a complete low-cost course enabling you to actually draw usable house plans for your own dream home. It works with CAD software and shows you how to draw floor plans for both a one-floor rancher and a two-story home. Various views are taught and it includes instruction on how to draw foundation plans, elevations, front, side and end views, basic electrical, and more. Since Tim Davis is a professional house plan draftsman and has personally taught many how to do this, he wants to offer this new Ebook form to the market to help them to save money by enabling them to do it themselves.

Another unique Ebook, also written by Tim Davis (who is also a pastor), is called The Almost Forgotten Church, and it deals with the modern movements that are influencing and infiltrating many churches today. This Ebook focuses especially on how many Baptist churches are drifting away from the high standards and position they have long held to in the past. This results in letting go of this God-given high position and exchanges it with the practices of the world, which have long been kept out, but now is creeping in to destroy its effectiveness as light. Of course, such a trade-off is not without a heavy price tag.

Another unique online book shows you how to get started effectively with article marketing. This electronic book, in PDF Ebook format, teaches you how to formulate traffic grabbing articles that bring the traffic you want to your Web site. The E book is called Harnessing Article Marketing Power, written by Mike Valles - a writer who writes tons of articles for others and knows what works. Techniques are also revealed that show you how to write a powerful Bio box that makes people want to click to go to your Web site.

Received Text Ebooks is now open for business. Ebook authors are invited to submit your Ebook and you can sell from this Web site. This Christian Ebook store, however, will limit titles to those that are not offensive to the public in general.

What about the unique name? It comes from the name of the English text (Received Text) from which the King James Bible was translated in 1611 - the greatest text of all time.

Received Text Ebooks was started by Tim Davis, a drafter who has drawn custom house plans for over 15 years. With his experience of more than 600 house plans and other commercial buildings, he is ready to meet clients needs for new house plans. This new Ebook store highlights that expertise with his unique Ebook that teaches how to draw house plans for both a ranch home and a 2-story house. Other Ebooks are also for sale.
