Vicon Media, the company which owns and operates the new Gaming Revenues Affiliate program consists of highly experienced, talented, and knowledgeable people who are veterans in the online gaming, and online marketing industries.

Between them they possess a multitude of knowledge, talent, skills and experience. These multi-lingual people were behind the huge successes success of Empire Online.

After many months of setting up and testing, the Affiliate Program launched in August, 2008. Working with the most popular gaming software provider Playtech. The first two brands to launch under the Gaming Revenues Program are Royal Lounge Casino and Vulcan Poker, which is on the iPoker network.

Thanks to the talent and driving force of the Gaming Revenues team, they are already seeing very high player conversion rates. Both brands offer high deposit bonuses and monthly deposit bonuses. A large variety of games are available, and the latest new games will be regularly added, meaning guaranteed high player retention.

With the five-tier commission system, the earning potential for affiliates is huge. Affiliates will earn commission from the revenue generated by their own referred players, as well as earning commission from players referred by their sub-affiliates. Such a system can be extremely profitable for affiliates and bring a regular ongoing income.

Gaming Revenues main target market is Europe, with the affiliate program as well as the games software being available in English, French, Italian, German, and Spanish, with more languages such as Scandinavian to follow soon.

It is not just the program that is multi-lingual, but also the team of personal account managers that will help with anything from initial account set-up, to advising on the most profitable converting media for your website. Currently the expert team can converse in English, French, Spanish, German, Italian, Polish, Hungarian, Hebrew, and Greek, with more native foreign language personnel expected to join soon.

The program itself runs from highly sophisticated software, with user-friendliness a top priority.
