Tenants are always at receiving end, while raising funds from some external source of finance for any of their personal purposes. The basic reason for this is uncertainty or risk factor that is usually associated with the repayment of the loan amount. Because of this most of the lenders either don't agree to offer tenant loans (http://www.fastcashloantenant.co.uk/instant_tenant_loans.html) or offer these loans at immensely high rate of interest to the borrowers in need of funds. To put an end to such troubles, some reputed online arrangers have initiated tenant loans at manageable rates. They completely understand the plea of the non homeowners and are ready to offer financial assistance at the most nominal rates without mandating any of their assets to serve as collateral for the loan amount of tenant loans.
