The American Management Association, Linkage, National Seminars and Skillpath, to name just a few, direct seminars towards women attendees.

www.SeminarInformation.com, the largest database of seminars on the Internet, lists thousands of seminars on their website and throughout the 27 years they have been in business it has remained a constant that women are the primary seminar attendees.

"When we first started our business in 1981," says Catherine Bellizzi, President, "most of the seminars were directed towards women in assistant positions. But as time has past more and more seminars are directed towards women in the executive suite."

Some of the seminars specifically targeted towards women include:

Assertive Communication Skills for Women

This seminar helps attendees gain empowering new skills that will increase your effectiveness, impact and achievement.

Conflict Management Skills for Women (<http://www.seminarinformation.com/qgayxe/conflict-management-skills-for-women>).

In this seminar attendees learn proven strategies that work in a variety of conflict situations - from minor disagreements to potentially explosive confrontations.

The Women's Conference is day is filled with practical, idea-packed sessions from Career and Personal Development; Personal Growth and Enrichment; and The Complete Woman.

These three seminars are conducted by Skillpath Seminars. Since its start, SkillPath has grown from holding just 82 seminars in 1989 to conducting more than 12,000 seminars each year. In 1995, SkillPath joined forces with Graceland College, a nationally recognized, private, undergraduate institution. For both SkillPath and Graceland, this partnership makes possible a long-sought objective: the potential for many to experience the joy and benefits obtained through lifelong learning and professional development.

Powerful Communication Skills for Women

Learn step-by-step how to be seen as a highly credible, authoritative communicator who commands attention and gets things done.

Women's Leadership Development Conference

In just one day, you can make a dramatic impact on your leadership effectiveness by training on essential topics.

These two seminars are presented by National Seminars. National Seminars Group, a division of Rockhurst University Continuing Education Center, Inc., is one of the nation's leading providers of continuing education. Each year, they provide more than 6,000 seminars in the United States and Canada, and in our 14-year history, more that 5 million professionals have participated in these programs.

Assertiveness Training for Women in Business (<http://www.seminarinformation.com/qqabxc/assertiveness-training-for-women-in-business>) Attendees learn to strengthen their leadership ability and image; handle responsibilities more confidently; and direct co-workers with authority.

This seminar is conducted by the American Management Association (AMA).

Maximizing Your Influence: Designed for Women Leaders (<http://www.seminarinformation.com/qqbntc/maximizing-your-influence-designed-for-women-leaders>) In this workshop strengthen your ability to influence others by identifying your preferred influence styles and strategies, all while maintaining your authenticity and integrity.

This course is presented by Linkage Inc, the leading provider of corporate education and consulting for human resource, human resource development, organizational development and training professionals worldwide.
