

"How To Make A Budget" Lesson Added To American Debt Enders Website

By American Debt Enders

Dated: Nov 13, 2008

If you can learn to budget you can stay out of debt. It is to this end that American Debt Enders has added a budgeting lesson complete with a user friendly spreadsheet to its website.

Americans are being taken for a ride by the banking industry. Even as banks have there hands out in Washington, they are burying credit card holders with even higher interest rates, on past balances, while at the same time lowering card limits. People need to understand that when it comes to debt solvency, there best friend and resource is them..

Even if you are in a debt management or debt settlement program, you need to budget to gain control of your money. It is the only way. While the page has been added to the For-Profit referral service <http://www.Americandebtenders.com> website, it will continue to be developed. Their goal is to not only provide the basic budgeting tools and guidance, but also provide useful tips on how and where to cut back expenses and even find ways of providing additional income.

The company is more than willing to take calls and answer any questions relating to budgeting or any of the other items listed as resources on the site. As an affiliate of Consumer Debt Solutions, a BBB member, they can also provide debt counseling services. There is never a charge for debt counseling.

###

For Profit debt counseling referral service offering debt management, debt settlement, credit restoration and helping to educate the debt ridden consumer through our Free Newsletter.

Category	Finance, Services
Tags	household budgeting, debt settlement, free credit counseling, debt management, avoid bankruptcy
Email	Click to email author
Phone	877-766-2465
Fax	207-470-5903
State/Province	New York
Zip	11563
Country	United States