Revolutionary Breaking News Streamlines Online News Delivery

Your Daily Slice (www.YourDailySlice.com), a revolutionary online news portal which puts the news you want at your fingertips on one simple site, has been updated to provide it's visitors with an even more streamlined experience. The newest updates to the site also aim to establish Your Daily Slice as the most comprehensive online news source, while maintaining and enhancing its ease of navigation and efficiency. Your Daily Slice is a one-stop source for breaking news, updating constantly to provide you with the top headlines from all the major news sources and news categories – eliminating the need to search multiple news sites for the information you want.

Your Daily Slice site updates include the addition of dedicated, proprietary news feeds, as well as news feeds from all the top news sources, including NY Times, LA Times, USA Today, AP, UPI, Reuters, BBC, ABC, CBS, MSNBC and more. The newly updated site will also feature up-to-date scores for football and basketball and game recaps. The new site structure also features top articles from all major blogs, as well as up-to-the-minute weather reports and stock reports – all in one easy to use, one-click format.

It is Your Daily Slice's cleanly categorized and easy-to-navigate structure that makes this online news site so convenient, and a favorite for those wanting to save time searching for the latest information. With all articles streamlined under simply stated categories, it's easy to find the information you need at a glance. Every news article posted on the site is listed in chronological order, setting the latest news apart from the rest. It is also easy to search and find past articles – no bookmarking needed!

“The whole goal of this site is to make staying informed with the latest breaking news as easy as possible. With the amount of information that's available on the web, navigating through tons of online news sources to find what's important to you can be time consuming – if not downright frustrating,” says George Beardsley, Creator of Your Daily Slice. “We lay everything out in a way that makes finding what you're interested in really easy. And these new improvements and expansions to the site will make the user experience that much better, because you have even more right at your fingertips, just one click away,” says Beardsley.

To get your Daily Slice of news, your way, visit www.YourDailySlice.com and browse headlines, search news archives, or peruse the many news categories – from Politics and Financial News, to Showbiz and Health & Wellness, to College and Pro Sports.
