

Williams Kherkher, L.L.P., Work for Victims of Houston Refinery Accidents

Oil refineries may be a booming business in Houston, but they can also be dangerous places to work. Williams Kherkher, L.L.P., serve their community by assisting victims of refinery explosions, chemical leaks, and other accidents.

Jan. 22, 2009 - PRLog -- Oil refinery is a key part of Houston's economy. While this is generally a profitable business, working in this field also involves a certain level of risk. Refineries are expected to take every reasonable precaution to protect workers, but unfortunately they do not always do so. Refinery accidents are comparatively rare, but their consequences are often tragic.

If you or a loved one has been injured in a refinery accident, Houston workplace injury lawyers Williams Kherkher, L.L.P., can help. They have been serving the Houston area for years, protecting the rights of people who have been injured in refinery accidents. Their areas of focus include Houston refinery explosions, serious burns, toxic chemicals, and wrongful death cases.

The Williams Kherkher Law Firm, L.L.P., (formerly Williams Bailey) began in 1983 as an asbestos litigation firm. Since then they have expanded their business to include Houston refinery injuries, car accidents, and more.
