

Tried everything? Fed Up? Gastric Band can be the right solution for you if your BMI is 35 and over

Tried all kinds of diets and failed? You GP's weight loss tablets have not produced the long lasting result you were hoping for?

Gastric Band surgery is not an instant solution to weight loss. It will assist in decreasing overall daily food intake and can help you achieve a sustainable weight.

The Gastric band works by causing a feeling of fullness when eating thereby allowing you to eat less. This is achieved by placing the band around the uppermost part of the stomach, dividing it into two sections, with a small opening between sections which allows food to pass through. The section above the band forms a small pouch that fills with food quickly

The surgery costs £3980.
