Proposed Amendment to US Economic Recovery Package Could Pay for Itself with 1/3 Trillion Dollars in Annual savings and Potentially Create 48,000 More Jobs

Wilmington, DE - Feb 3rd, 2009 - Ayess Industries International Corp., While the American Recovery and Investment Plan is designed to create more than 3 million jobs, there is another proposal coming out that offers the potential for up to an additional 48,000 American jobs and is designed to eventually save over 350 billion a year. Its all part of a massive planned government proposal put forth by Ayess Industries International Corp. The company states that its all possible with a government in power that embraces change and since the Obama Administration represents the greatest change in decades, now is the time.” The company started the architecture for these programs after 9/11 in an effort to improve national security and uses the 9/11 Commission Report to support their findings.

They began by developing a system to inspect 100% of inbound containers at ports and land crossings in an effort to eliminate smuggling of conventional and non--conventional weapons and add that it will be a significant blow to the drug trade as well. Company reps continued by stating that the present worsening global economic conditions and existing poverty is a serious and rapidly growing threat to communities and those affected could easily be used to deliver bombs and in large enough numbers could create civil unrest and the only way to avoid this is to ensure that all Americans have basic housing needs to maintain their dignity. To address this they designed a massive affordable housing proposal that the company says could virtually end homelessness in America using significantly less tax dollars than are currently being spent on social housing.

Addressed simultaneously were security issues for travelers with what the company calls Mass Transit Security Solutions and our sources admit that the technology is not yet available to implement this part of the plan.

The backbone of their proposal is a database driven system dubbed the National Access System which incorporates hundreds of proprietary technologies which offer transparency and accountability to governments in addition to tying together all services at all levels of government while enhancing privacy. An inside source stated “any country with an efficient and accountable government can support business and create sustainability. The Restructuring of America Plan includes accountable management of the public debt load; accountable decision making to prevent more 'bridges to nowhere'; complete solutions for national security including addressing issues with illegal aliens and even a proposal to fix the problems of socialism in a democratic and capitalistic society. This system enhances the privacy and safety of the public.” He went on to say that interest is growing around the world for the Ayess cost effective product lines and several states are now being looked at for possible factory locations. Within the next decade, when the unfunded liabilities issue comes to a head, the resulting crisis will dwarf the problems facing the world economy today and many governments will have little choice but to implement programs like those proposed by Ayess Industries and those who adopt such programs now will be in a much stronger position.
