"The Good Socialism"

I realize that expression may be offensive to many, especially to our American neighbours and friends, but there truly is a such a thing as good socialism, but there are in fact many good attributes that form the socialist ideology. The problems and inherent weaknesses in even the most perfect of system, lies in the fact that all systems must be implemented by imperfect beings.

The ideal scenario exists in a utopia of sorts, where all people are entitled to a baseline amount of income to ensure that at least a minimum standard of living is granted to all people who are legally entitled to live in that region. I do believe in a modified form of capitalism that encourages creative effort, provides incentives for production and so on but one that does not lead to the oppression and exploitation of those who have the least power to affect how they are used to create wealth for the few. (as is the case in many multinational, corporate structures). I believe in free enterprise, invention, innovation, progress and collective growth.

As the times, have shown of late, the rougher things become economically, and the "tighter" money becomes, compassion, mercy and common sense have become involuntary casualties of greed, selfishness and fear. Sadly it is at times like this when it is most essential to ensure that the collective needs of all the members of society are met, and not just the needs of those who are in positions of influence, affluence and power and this is the point of this bulletin.

People are killing themselves and their families, communities are dying and the "American Dream" for many has turned into a 24/7 nightmare since the economic turmoil started in 2008. Mom and Pop businesses are being exterminated by government bureaucracy, taxes and regulations while corporations are being "Bailed Out" using the tax dollars that those same Mom and Pop businesses provided. Our Blog <http://wantingtowork.blogspot.com/>

I am a co-founder of Webbercast and my partner and I determined from its inception that it would be based on a business model that would benefit all who were to become involved with it and not just ourselves. We will not compromise on this, and the result will be a company that will flourish in direct proportion to the growth and effort of every participant. The business model was designed to prevent any form of internal competition between participants, and was built to foster an atmosphere of mutual encouragement, mutual prosperity and mutual profit.

We strictly believe that ours is a business model that provides the opportunity for all participants to benefit collectively, and to be able to represent a concept that will help unite local citizens, businesses and communities, while providing a fair standard of living for all of its independent sales contractors. We have a vision and consider it a mission to offer this opportunity to those who just want a fair opportunity to make a fair living while providing an honest and necessary service.

We are offering 100 Canadians and 600 Americans the opportunity to earn as much as $ 6000 / month (average estimate is likely in the $ 3750/ month range depending on location) while providing local small businesses with an advertising venue that can either supplement or replace their present advertising and marketing methods. We specialize in Web 2.0 Community Social Portal Construction (Niche Social Networking by Geographic Locale), in conjunction with local small business profile promotion within a local social network framework. We offer the latest in social networking technologies to benefit local small businesses, entrepreneurs, artists and others, while entertaining and informing the members of the local community.

We know that by helping unify the citizens of a community, and by helping local small business and local entrepreneurs within the community, to garner more income that there is a huge ripple effect on other areas of economic growth for that local area.

Our plan is to help to lessen the financial crisis for those who choose to join us. We know that the economic and social climate is begging for relief, and we will prove that prosperity can happen even in these times of uncertainty and that small business can maintain its viability by venturing into non-traditional promotion methods. We will show that when a company shares profits more evenly with those who do the work to generate those profits, that all participants can grow together generating increased loyalty, respect, and community.

The requirements are simple and are explained in detail on the My Webbercast website. We are offering 100 Canadians and 600 Americans the opportunity to be able to not only financially survive this recession/depression but to actually prosper because of it.

The selected participants must be minimally computer literate, must be able to use email, scan documents, have access to a mode of transportation within their local area, and be legally entitled to work, in their respective nation, while being able meet the requirements listed on the Webbercast Micro-Franchise agreement, with regards to their portion of the social network upkeep and maintenance.

*** Please Note : ONLY (1) person will be accepted per area (estimated population of 35,000 +) to ensure that there is no competition between participants. ***

Thank You

True Prosperity Makes No Place for Selfishness
