It has recently been reported in the Canadian press that Canadians should get private insurance or risk financial ruin. The costs of new cancer drugs have been increasing dramatically and cancer is about to overtake heart disease as Canada's leading killer. Canadians who don't have a private insurance plan that covers drugs should purchase a private extended health insurance policy or risk financial ruin.

TFG Global Insurance Solutions Ltd. offers Canadians the Manulife private health plans via:

David Tompkins, President of TFG Global Insurance Solutions Ltd., stated that "my own father had cancer several years ago and unfortunately lost the battle against this terrible illness, but his health insurance paid for the very expensive drugs that the Provincial Government did not cover. People need to realize that cancer drugs are extremely expensive and extended healthcare policies are a vital part of your financial security. Your finances can easily be destroyed if you suffer a critical illness that requires expensive drug therapy."

TFG Global Insurance Solutions Ltd. also offers group insurance plans which include coverage for extended healthcare expenses such as prescription drugs and semi-private hospital rooms. TFG Global can source a variety of insurers for a company which wants to attract and retain valuable employees with a comprehensive group benefit plan.

TFG Global can also supply quotes for critical illness insurance as well.
