Portland, OR, USA -- Need time off? In a jam? Noveltyexcuses.com has got your back.

For under $20, noveltyexcuses.com has made it easy to buy excuse notes that appear to come from doctors or hospitals. Other items found on the site are fake jury summons and authentic looking insurance cards.

"Sometimes people just need a day off," said Mr. Simmons, founder of the parent company A.B. Productions, Inc., which sells the notes as part of noveltyexcuses.com. "How many people go visit their doctors every day when they're not sick because they just need a note? Now there's an option available at a fraction of the cost most people would have to pay".

The company's customers receive all templates for one low price, which is available for instant download. All products are easy to edit and can be ready to print in just minutes.

Though the company's disclaimer advises the notes are "for entertainment purposes only," one testimonial says: "I've managed to take several weeks off using these templates! It couldn't be any easier!"

The noveltyexcuses.com founder said many employees are fed up with working long hours for little pay, then having no flexibility if they needed to tend to a sick relative or attend their children's school activities.

The company has made owning these authentic looking forms fast, easy and affordable. There is no waiting and 100% confidential!
