

Affinityproperties.com Reveals Austin Real Estate Market Prediction

With the economic downturn and the crash of the stock markets, everyone around globe is concerned about real estate markets. Austin is in a good spot, according to Austin realtor Joe Cline of REMAX's Affinity Properties Group.

April 10, 2009 - PRLog -- Austin, Texas – According to professional Austin realtor Mr. Joe Cline, this is an excellent opportunity to invest in Austin Real estate. He says, “This slowed down economic condition is the perfect period like the 1980s oil and gas bust period to invest in Austin Real Estate. The Austin Real Estate prices will decrease now and hence people who invest in Austin real estate now can reap huge returns by the start of 2010”. “This may be a tough period for the sellers though” says Mr. Joe.

Speaking about his predictions about the Austin Texas Real Estate market(<http://www.affinityproperties.com>), Mr. Joe Cline said, “The Austin Texas real estate investors should not expect quick returns now. The decreased price is likely to continue till the start of 2010. Hence you cannot reap returns overnight. Due to the current economic condition, many builders and those in real estate are forced to offer discounts that they wouldn't even imagined just 12 months ago. The Austin Real estate market is no exemption. You will see many homes and foreclosures available for sale in the Austin MLS at great prices. The current economic condition is part of a cyclic process and hence the Austin Real Estate market will regain its shape in near future providing great returns to the wise investors.”

“Great changes have taken place in the Austin Texas real estate market. However, when compared to the Global real estate market, the Austin real estate is still showing great value. Today, Austin is the most preferred real estate investing option for many people worldwide. With the cheap pricing of homes in the state's best tourist spot, there is bound to be increasing demand for Austin real estate” says the Austin Realtor
