Transmission Rebuilders Network International (www.trannybuilder.com) adds the Mustang Dynamometer equipment to its parts line up, Since 1975, Mustang has been producing the highest quality dynamometers and testing equipment in the industry. It's our innovation and experience that makes our products superior. It's our dedication to you that makes our company successful. Mustang Dynamometer supplies dynamometer systems for leading automotive manufacturers, OEM's, tier one suppliers, fleet operators, R&D houses, race teams, centralized and decentralized emissions and safety inspection programs and many other leading companies throughout the world. From it's inception, Mustang has believed that integrated manufacturing of custom systems is necessary to ensure simple calibration and long-term reliability of test systems. Mustang can design and manufacture a custom test system in less time - and for less cost - than most manufacturers can assemble a unit from available parts.
