

Jet City Devices Opens a Chicago Cell Phone Repair Office

By Matt McCormick

Dated: May 05, 2009

Jet City Devices has just opened up a new Chicago based office that will offer in-person cell phone repairs to people in the Chicago area. This includes repairs for phones like the Apple iPhone, various Blackberry models, and many other phones.

Jet City Devices, LLC, a Seattle based cell phone repair company, announced today the opening of a new Chicago office. This location will be doing in-person repairs for people in the Chicago area as well as being the headquarters for Jet City Devices customer service.

"Our Seattle office has had a lot of success with in-person repairs," said Matt McCormick, CEO of Jet City Devices, "and we are excited about the opportunities Chicago offers in that area since it's a significantly larger market."

Some of the more popular repairs at the new Chicago facility are the Apple iPhone (3G version), various Blackberry phones, and the new T-Mobile G1 phone. In addition, there will be repair services for a variety of phones from AT&T, T-Mobile, and other carriers.

Chicago area in-person repairs are by appointment only. If you are looking for this service, the Chicago repair center can be reached at (800) 272-0897x1 or found online at <http://www.jetcitydevices.com>.

###

Jet City Devices is a Seattle based cell phone repair company offering repairs for the iPhone, AT&T, Blackberry, T-Mobile, and more. They offer in-person repairs in Chicago and mail-in services nationwide. For details see: <http://www.jetcitydevices.com>

Category	Electronics, Services
Tags	chicago cell phone repair
Email	Click to email author
Phone	(800) 272-0897
State/Province	Washington
Zip	98107
Country	United States