General Acceptance Corp., of Fairfield NJ, had signed to use the XpressCredit Loan Origination and Credit Aggregation Systems and will become a lending source for independent auto dealers.

SYRACUSE, NY – XpressCredit, a provider of a web-based, indirect lending platform announces the signing of General Acceptance Corp. of Fairfield, NJ as a user of both their Credit Aggregation System (CAS) and Loan Origination System (LOS). General Acceptance will also become a lending source for the independent auto dealers on the XpressCredit platform.

XpressCredit's software and advanced filtering technology will provide General Acceptance with the ability to receive only applications that meet their criteria for funding, thereby streamlining their core business process. For independent auto dealers on the XpressCredit platform, this means access to another lending source that can help them sell more cars.

“General Acceptance Corp. is a welcome addition to the XpressCredit platform. The features and functionality provided through our software gives General Acceptance the ability to finance more loans with less overhead, and allow our dealers another avenue to put metal over the curb.” said XpressCredit Executive Vice President, Mark Louer.

“Working with XpressCredit is one of the best choices I've made in our time in business. It was a business relationship meant to be. The system is so easy to use and the company is always willing to help make my job that much easier. It's so easy I can be on road signing new dealers and also decisioning deals all from my iPhone!” said Jarret Smith of General Acceptance Corporation.
