Dated: May 24, 2009

Sean Wright's latest album - The Calling - has this week gone to number eight in the Jamendo album chart just three days after release.

Sean Wright's latest release - THE CALLING - has entered at number eight in the album chart of the world's largest free and legal download music site. Jamendo boasts 20,000 albums from indie artists around the world.

Jamendo is a community of free, legal and unlimited music published under Creative Commons licenses. Under such a license music can be shared legally.

Musically, THE CALLING finds Wright once again mining the regally traditionalist sound first heard on ACOUSTIC ARCADE. Hazy bluegrass numbers, acoustic-based songbook pop, and jumpin' country swing provide the backdrop for Wright's continuing study of the vicissitudes of life, love, and death. Although he is certainly world-weary and wise, a lot of life is lived in the verses of these songs and there is a sublime spirituality that provides, if not hope (a rather prosaic notion for Wright by this point, to be sure), at least a means to finding contentment. Finally, a word about Wright's voice here: while his singing has always been unconventional and invariably melodic in any traditional sense, in its whispered magnificence it is simply perfect for this timeless music.

Sean Wright's 26th new album in 26 months! His 32nd album features 12 new songs and is the third solely acoustic release in an outstanding trilogy along with DYLAN'S DEAD? and ACOUSTIC ARCADE.

Wright's epic songwriting (26 original albums in 26 months) out-shines his greater accomplishment: being active since 1974 as an indie songwriter. Sean Wright's vast catalogue now stands him alongside legends such as Bob Dylan, Neil Young, and Bruce Springsteen!

On THE CALLING, he teams up with New York poet, Reine Amodeo, on the song "Trust." All the other songs are written by Wright.
