Showcasing long term, summer or winter rentals, SeasonalRentals.com caters exclusively to "snowbirds" and those seeking homes to rent for the season.

Newly-launched SeasonalRentals.com stands out among throngs of vacation rental sites- narrowing the search for the short term traveler and maximizing the value of the advertiser's dollar. "In purchasing our name, "SeasonalRentals.com" in 2001, we had a vision to capitalize on the need for an internet advertising service catering to "short term" rentals vs. 'rent by the day' style websites, says founder Michael Bishop, "I am very excited to finally launch this distinct service."

Navigating seasonal rental periods on "vacation rental" websites is frustrating and time consuming as dates are often unavailable within seasonal term ranges. Seasonal travelers now have a powerful tool to search available short term rental listings by owners, realtors and seasonal communities. Per the name, SeasonalRentals.com, advertisers receive numerous valid inquiries for rentals offered one month or more at a time.

Typically sought by seniors, retirees and professionals, SeasonalRentals.com features monthly rentals in top seasonal destinations such as Arizona, Alabama, Delaware, Florida, Maine, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Rhode Island among others.

Realtors benefit immensely from advertising on SeasonalRentals.com by avoiding the MLS to lease their seasonal rentals and secure home rentals without the help of other parties. Clients contact realtors directly to inquire about listings.

Advantages to renting homes seasonally:

- Less aggravation and less expense.
- Seasonal renters usually pay all utilities during their stay.
- Rates during a whole peak season can be quite lucrative.
- Seasonal renters tend to be loyal year after year if their stay is a positive experience.

Far superior to the pricey and short-lived, "Seasonal Rentals" section in the newspaper, and even "vacation rental" websites, SeasonalRentals.com now provides the tool necessary to highlight and get seasonal homes rented and enjoyed year after year. Rates are simple and inexpensive and include photos, virtual tours, etc.

The name says it all..."www.SeasonalRentals.com- Where Snowbirds and Seasonal Travelers GO!"
