Middle Eastern Government to Continue Project Utilizing TEGR's Innovative Exploration Technologies

Las Vegas – Stock-PR.com would like to highlight a stock watch on Terra Energy & Resource Technologies, Inc. (OTCBB: TEGR), a natural resource exploration services technology company who announced today June 16, 2009 that the Company successfully completed the first phase of the pilot project with the Natural Resource Authority of Jordan and has started the second phase.

“The project consists of two major phases, where we are to utilize our STeP® (satellite-based) technology in phase one, followed by the NAGS (geochemical application) method in phase two,” said Dr. Alexandre Agaian, President of Terra Energy & Resource Technologies, Inc.

The Letter of Intent, signed with the Natural Resource Authority in March 2008 for the pilot project in Jordan, called for utilizing the Company’s technologies to explore Jordan’s natural resources.

The LOI was signed by the Minister of Energy and Mineral Resources, His Excellency Eng. Khaldoun Qteishat. The non-binding LOI states: “Subject to further negotiations and a formal agreement, it is the intent of the parties that, upon agreement of the Authority that the test is successful the Authority would also commence negotiation of an agreement with TEGR for a Phase 1 STeP and AGS surveying of the whole country of Jordan.”

“It’s very exciting that the Government of Jordan has expressed interest in our technologies and that we are continuing with the second phase of this project,” said Dmitry Vilbaum, the Company’s Chief Executive Officer. “We intend to expand our technology offering in the near term. We realize that the Middle East is an important region for us in its recognition and demand of our technology services, and we expect to generate additional interest in Jordan and the neighboring countries.”
