Heidelberg. Can one create his own reality by means of his thoughts ? Marketing Nastasi says yes and offers a large range of tips for manifesting on their new Manifesting Portal.

Everyone knows at least one person who seems to only think of something and already got it. As children we used to have a lot of wishes, most of the time we would think a lot about it and many of these wishes – e.g. what we wanted to do or become – came true. As adults we are not that successful anymore. Is there a secret behind the fulfilment of wishes or did we change so much from our childhood that aims appear unreachable for us ? Yes, we have changed in one big point: We do not believe in the power of our mind anymore. If we have a wish we start pondering if and how that might come true and in most of the cases we simply get away from the wish or the aim because we think we simply cannot reach it.

„What a big mistake not to know about and believe in the power of our mind,“ says Julia Nastasi, mental coach from Heidelberg, Germany. The young entrepreneur has been working on the German speaking market for more than one year now successfully. She is very sure that also the English speaking market will be as successful. She and her husband have created a unique online course to learn manifesting successfully within 30 days. „Science says that our mind needs to stick to a habit for at least 21 days to accept it as an automatism and that is one big point we make use of,“ says Alexander Nastasi, who mainly supervises the German course.

The 30 days online course Manifesting successfully works with 4 main pillars to success:

The first point is the daily e-mail with an exercise – reading and doing does not take longer than 30 minutes. The second pillar is the daily chat, every day 30 minutes moderated to solve problems, answer questions and dissolve blockades. The third aspect is the internal bulletin board for exchange among the participants. The last element is the private e-mail for those questions that are too private to be asked in the chat or on the bulletin board.

The promotion price of only 39,95 $ will be available until June 30th 2009. Information and booking on <http://success.marketing-nastasi.de>

About Marketing Nastasi: Marketing Nastasi operates an online mental coaching portal, which started in May 2008 in Germany with great success. Its basic idea is to help people by means of modern techniques to reach their aims within 30 days. The German model started different additional courses with topics like love, money, health and desired weight, which are also very popular. In German, there are also external coaches like Heidi Wellmann (job coaching) and Christian Reiland (Law of attraction online course).
